

Environmental Law

From helping businesses address environmental issues that impact their properties to guiding clients through the environmental rules and regulations that affect how they operate, Kerr Russell provides smart solutions to the environmental challenges its clients face.

Kerr Russell's environmental law practice includes assisting clients in the due diligence process when buying, selling or leasing real estate or a business. The firm has experience in dealing with potentially responsible parties in CERCLA matters, procurement and compliance with environmental permits and assisting clients with wetlands issues. Additionally, Kerr Russell has been involved in Brownfield redevelopment sites and environmental auditing. The firm frequently advises clients on baseline environmental assessments and due care plans as part of its environmental practice.

Kerr Russell assists its clients by approaching the resolution to an environmental problem in a cost effective manner. We understand that environmental compliance is a cost of doing business, and one that needs to be dealt with responsibly and practically.