

Michigan Business Court Litigation

New legislation designed to increase the efficiency of the Michigan court system in complex business lawsuits was implemented in January 2013. These structural and procedural changes have translated into speedier resolution of commercial lawsuits.

In any type of litigation, Kerr Russell's legal teams have always cultivated vigorous representation of clients in commercial lawsuits along with an efficient, effective approach to case strategy and execution. Our highly advanced internal technology systems reinforce our philosophy of bringing prompt resolution of matters with optimal results. Because we are accustomed to accelerated discovery and expedited court dates, we are well positioned to continue our track record of success in the newly-established Michigan Business Court.
